STANDARD BOND GUIDE

A Publication by
ARD STATISTICS CO., INC., N. Y., N. Y.

July, 1939

Statistical Section Combined with Standard Bond Guide

For the convenience of clients, the Statistical Section, heretofore published separately, has been incorporated in the Standard Bond Guide, and the two sections will be published monthly hereafter in the combined form.

Thus, there now is available in the one publication not only pertinent data for Government securities and the leading corporate and foreign bonds, but also up-to-date business, monetary and security statistics which are of general interest to the bond investor.

The Statistical Section, published on pages 375-384, includes data on the following: Bond and stock price indexes; new security financing; money rates; sta tics on gold and money in circulation, and indexes industrial activity, steel production, building c struction, freight carloadings and electric pow production. A broader coverage of the Federal serve statistics, both for the 12 Federal Reserve Ba combined and for the member banks in 101 cit also is presented than heretofore.

The daily interest table and the table on curr return (formerly published on pages 11 and 12- respectively, of the Standard Bond Guide) have b transferred to pages 382-384 of the Statistical Secti

How to Use Standard Bond Guide

Standard Bond Guide has been designed to present the most pertinent facts regarding individual bonds in as concise a form as possible. We have selected for inclusion in this section all bonds outstanding in the hands of the public in the amount of more than $500,000 which are considered worthy of such listing.

The data on each issue are presented in one continuous line covering the two facing pages. For complete ease of following, a system of numbers is used; the key number for each bond is listed in the extreme left-hand column before the name of the issue, is repeated in the first column on the right-hand page and is again repeated in the final column.

The data have been assembled in several consecutive sections, to provide clients with the most logical sequence of facts. Thus, with the name of the bond has been grouped the market, lien position, maturity date, interest dates, quality rating and bank status. In this grouping also will be found the call price and current price, so that the investor has an intimate comparison of the market price in relation to the redemption feature. Immediately following, of course, is the current return and yield to maturity.

The next two columns, in combination (Cumulative Sales and Amount Outstanding), provide a good picture of the marketability of the bond in question, and with the amount outstanding is placed the prior lien and total debt columns, to give a complete picture of the debt structure. A comprehensive tabulation of the past price action of the bond completes the left-hand page.

The first factual column on the right-hand page gives the industry or country in which the bond is a representative obligation.

Following is a relatively complete financial record; this includes (1) average annual fixed charge coverage for 10 years, or the most complete portion of that period available; (2) actual fixed charge coverage for each of the last three years; (3) an ESTIMATE of fixed charge coverage for the current year; (4) actual interim earnings figures for the current year to date, together with a comparison of those for the like interval a year earlier; and (5) essential current data from the latest available balance sheet, together with the date of the report used.

The tax and legal status of the bond follows, and the factual description is concluded with a listing of the issuing house, the price at which the bond was issued and the date of issuance.

Each spread of two pages is complete in itself, in that it includes an explanation of all symbols used on that page, with the exception of certain standard notations. The various columns, and the standard notations used, are explained in the following paragraphs.

SYSTEM—Numerous of the companies the bonds of which are included herein are part of a larger system. The system (if any) to which each issue belongs is listed in the footnotes on each odd-numbered page, preceded by the capped head "System," according to the number in the extreme left-hand column. As an example, you will find on the bottom of page 19, at the start of the footnotes, the notation:

SYSTEM: No. 17—Delaware & Hudson.

This notation indicates that bond number 17 (Adirondack Railway 1st 5s, 1942) is part of the Delaware & Hudson system.

MARKET—Market symbols are used to indicate a listing on any of the 21 most important exchanges. These symbols are:

●New York S. E.	[7]Pittsburgh S. E.	[14]Cincinnati S. E. x[1]Listed N. Y. Curb	[8]Montreal S. E.	[15]Washington S. E.
[1]Traded N. Y. Curb	[9]Toronto S. E.	[16]Los Angeles S. E.
[2]Boston S. E.	[10]Baltimore S. E.	[17]New Orleans Curb
[3]Philadelphia S. E.	[11]New Orleans S. E.	[19]N. Y. Real Est. Ex.
[4]Chicago S. E.	[12]Cleveland S. E.	[20]Mnpls.-St. P. S. E.
[5]St. Louis S. E.	[13]San Fran. S. E.	[21]Montreal Curb

Unlisted bonds have no symbol preceding the name of the issue.

COMPANY AND ISSUE—In this column is included the name of the company or country, the mortgage position of the bond, the coupon rate and the year of maturity.

INTEREST DATES—Capital letters used to designate the months in which interest is paid are self-explanatory. The month carrying the numeral indicates the date of payment and also the date on which the issue matures. For example:

J1-D—Interest dates are June and December 1; maturity date is June 1.

J-D15—Interest dates are June and December 15; maturity date is December 15.

Where the maturity date differs from either of the interest dates, the maturity date is given in the title of the bond. For example:

Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Adj. Mtge. 4s, July 1, '95.....M1-N1

These bonds mature July 1, 1995, but interest is payable each May 1 and November 1.

Where interest is payable only once a year, only one interest date is given (such as July 1). Where interest is payable quarterly, the notation is "Q July 1," for example, indicating that payments are made every January 1, April 1, July 1, and October 1, and that the maturity date is July 1.

STANDARD RATINGS—These ratings give clients an up-to-date expression of opinion of the Standard Statistics Company as to the quality of each bond. The various ratings should be interpreted as follows:

A1+—Highest Grade	C —Uncertain
A1 —High Grade	D1+; D1; D—	These D ratings represent bonds in default, graded according to their probable worth in reorganization.
A —Sound
B1+—Good
B1 —Fair
B —Semi-Speculative
C1+—Speculative
C1 —Highly Speculative

★This symbol preceding any of these ratings signifies that the rating in question is conditional, in that full and complete data are not available.

BANK STATUS & 18-MONTH PRICE AVERAGE—This column gives clients our interpretation of the bonds which are most likely to be regarded as "eligible," "speculative" and "defaulted" in general bank examination practice. The symbols used are explained on pages 10 and 11.

REDEEMABLE AT—The price at which the issue is redeemable at the nearest possible call date is shown in each instance; the first year of call also is given if the bond is non-callable until a future date. If no symbol appears with the price given, it should be interpreted that the bond is callable only on any interest date. Otherwise, a symbol will be given and the proper explanation will appear in the footnotes at the bottom of the page. The Standard notations used, and their meanings are as follows:

N.C.	Non-Callable.
‡	Callable as a whole only.
*	Call price will be reduced from the stated figure on or before January 1, 1941.
p	Callable at any time, without advance notice.
t	Callable at any time on 30 days' notice.
u	Callable at any time on 40 days' notice.
w	Callable at any time on 45 days' notice.
y	Callable at any time on 60 days' notice.

APPROXIMATE PRICE — On listed bonds, the latest published quotation before closing is taken. Where prices are a week or more old on the more inactive listed bonds, we use the latest bid and asked prices.

On unlisted bonds, we publish the latest available bid and asked prices, utilizing in each case the most representative quotations from as many as possible tested sources.

On serial bonds, we publish no quotations, unless the issue is in default. Instead, we follow the usual practise of quoting an average yield to maturity, computing this figure on the basis of the average price of the various series and the average maturity date. This figure is published in the yield to maturity column.

The symbol (f) before the price indicates that the bond is dealt in flat.

CURRENT RETURN—This column is obtained by simple division of the annual income return by the current price of the bond. In this column also is included a notation as to the status of default on all issues on which there is past due interest and/or principal.

YIELD TO MATURITY—Figures in this column give straight yield to maturity. Where payments are being made on other than the originally stipulated coupon basis (such as for income bonds or defaulted issues where some distribution is being made), or where the coupon has been placed on a graduated scale, this column is left blank and only the current return is computed.

CUMULATIVE 1939 SALES—This figure can be computed only for listed bonds. For these issues, it represents the latest available total of sales for the year to date. This cumulative total provides an indication as to the length of time it might take to accumulate or liquidate a certain number of bonds without undue unsettlement to the market.

DEBT STRUCTURE—This section of three columns gives the par amount outstanding of the issue in question, the par amount of prior liens, and the par amount of total company funded debt, all expressed in millions of dollars. The amount outstanding and total debt columns are self-explanatory.

In considering prior liens, numerous instances arise where considerable question exists as to the seniority of individual obligations. The figures published in this column, therefore, must be considered strictly as the evaluation of this organization. Where there are no prior liens outstanding, in our judgment, the figure zero (0) is used. Where it is impossible to determine the amount of prior liens outstanding, either because of lack of full information or because of the complexity of the situation, a dash (—) is inserted in this column.

s This symbol used in the prior lien column designates the total of subsidiary funded debt and preferred stock outstanding in the case of a holding company bond.

PRICE RANGE—This section of four columns gives both a long term record of price action and a record for the current year to date. For unlisted bonds, the range is taken from our record of quoted bid prices.

INDUSTRY OR COUNTRY—For all domestic and Canadian corporate bonds, the industry in which the company operates is given. For foreign bonds, the country of origin is given. If the bond is a government or municipal issue, only the country is listed; if a foreign corporate issue, this fact is indicated by the word corporate (Corp.) after the name of the country.

CHARGES EARNED—These figures show the number of times the company was able to cover its fixed charges in the periods specified. Unless otherwise designated, fixed charges should be understood as including not only interest on funded debt, but also interest on bank loans and other forms of floating debt, amortization charges, discounts on securities sold, and any other similar charges applicable to a year's operations.

In the column showing the 10-year average of charges earned, it has been impossible in numerous instances to obtain a complete record of earnings for the entire 10 years. In these cases, we have taken the longest possible record, and designate the number of years included by superior figures (^{2} ^{3} ^{4} ^{5} ^{6} ^{7} ^{8} and ^{9}). Thus, the superior figure ^{8} before the fixed charge coverage in this column would indicate that the figure represented an average for a period of eight years.

In the three columns immediately following this 10-year average record are included the actual coverage ratios for the latest three reported years, and these actual figures are immediately followed by our up-to-date estimates of fixed charge coverage, wherever possible, of the full year 1939.

Latest interim earnings figures are given for all companies reporting such data, together with like results for the comparable period a year earlier. This information is listed in the following manner:

Interim Earnings
Mos.	Ended	1938	1939
9	Se.	1.65	1.60
12	Au.	2.30	2.10

The first of these two examples indicates that for the nine months ended in September (usually September 30) fixed charges were covered 1.60 times, as compared with 1.65 times in the like period of 1938. The second example is for the 12 months ended in August of 1938 and 1939, respectively.

To designate individual peculiarities in all of these reported earnings computations, the following standard symbols are used:

¶Fixed charge coverage before depreciation.

▲Interest charge coverage only.

§Percentage earned on outstanding bonds. This type of computation is used in place of the standard fixed charge coverage ratio both for income bonds and for certain miscellaneous situations where it demonstrates more clearly the actual earnings position applicable to the bonds.

E—The capital E is used to indicate that it has been necessary to estimate the fixed charge coverage ratio for a recorded period, because of the lack of complete information.

Where an issue is assumed or guaranteed (either directly or through lease agreements), the name of the assuming, guarantor or lessee company is shown in the columns normally used for balance sheet information. The earnings of the assuming, guarantor or lessee company are used in all of these cases, as the most significant earnings information; these data are given in the "Charges Earned" columns, with the following symbols:

A—Earnings of the Assuming Company.

G—Earnings of the Guarantor Company.

L—Earnings of the Lessee Company.

BALANCE SHEET INFORMATION—These items give a picture of the current financial position as of the latest reported date. In the "Cash and Equivalent" column is totaled all items of a cash nature. The current asset and current liability columns are computed on the generally accepted accounting principles.

TAX STATUS—The character of the Federal income tax clause in the indenture of each bond is explained by the following symbols:

0—No covenant. This indicates that the bond does not contain a tax-free covenant and holders of such bonds do not receive credit for a 2% Federal income tax paid to the Government.

02—No covenant. This indicates that the bond contains no tax-free covenant, but that the debtor corporation will refund to the bondholder, on proper application, 2% of the bond interest.

†02—This indicates a tax-free covenant of a security issued on or after January 1, 1934, under which the debtor corporation will refund to the bondholder 2% of the bond interest. Holders of such bonds who are citizens or residents of the United States do NOT receive credit for Federal income tax paid to the Government, but will receive refund of 2% of the bond interest on proper application.

2—Limited to not exceeding 2%. This indicates a tax-free covenant of a security issued before January 1, 1934. Holders of such bonds, other than domestic and resident foreign corporations receive the credit for a 2% Federal income tax paid to the Government.

†2—Limited to not exceeding 2%. This indicates a tax-free covenant of a security issued on or after January 1, 1934. Holders of such bonds who are citizens or residents of the United States do NOT receive credit for Federal income tax paid to Government, as debtor corporation is not required to withhold the tax on interest payments to such taxpayers. 2% is assumed, however, for non-resident aliens and non-resident foreign corporations.

4—Not limited to 2%. This indicates a tax-free covenant of a security issued before January 1, 1934, which provides that the debtor corporation will pay the Federal income tax which it is required to withhold or deduct up to 4% on the interest on the bonds. Holders of such bonds, other than domestic and resident foreign corporations, receive the credit for a 2% Federal income tax paid to the Government.

†4—Not limited to 2%. This indicates a tax-free covenant of a security issued on or after January 1, 1934, which provides that the debtor corporation will pay the Federal income tax which it is required to withhold or deduct up to 4% of the interest on the bonds. Holders of such bonds who are citizens or residents of the United States do NOT receive any credit for Federal income tax paid at the source to the Government, as the debtor corporation is not required to withhold the tax on interest payments to such taxpayers. 4% is assumed, however, for non-resident aliens and non-resident foreign corporations.

NL—Not limited to 2%. This indicates a tax-free covenant of a security issued before January 1, 1934, which provides that the debtor corporation will pay the Federal income tax up to any amount which it is required to withhold or deduct. Holders of such bonds, other than domestic and resident foreign corporations, receive the credit for a 2% Federal income tax paid to the Government.

F—Foreign. This symbol indicates that the bond has been issued by a foreign country, a non-resident foreign corporation, or a domestic or resident foreign corporation deriving less than 20% of its gross income from sources within the United States. Holders of such bonds do not receive the credit for a 2% Federal income tax paid to the Government. Non-resident aliens and non-resident foreign corporations are exempt from Federal income tax.

F2—Foreign. This symbol indicates that the bond contains a tax-free covenant and that it was issued before January 1, 1934, by a foreign country, a non-resident foreign corporation, or a domestic or resident foreign corporation deriving less than 20% of its gross income from sources within the United States. Citizens or residents of the United States (other than corporations) who hold such bonds receive the credit for a 2% Federal income tax paid to the Government. Non-resident aliens and non-resident foreign corporations are exempt from Federal income tax.

E—Tax exempt.

LEGAL STATUS—This section indicates bonds which are believed to comply with the legal requirements of 12 important states governing investments for savings banks and trust accounts. Of these states, seven publish official lists, while for the remainder legality is based upon our own interpretation of the law. For all states but Pennsylvania, it is believed that any bond legal for savings banks would be suitable for investment of trust funds. For Pennsylvania, we designate as legal only those bonds which we believe to qualify under the more conservative trust fund law. For New Jersey, all bonds legal for savings banks also are legal for trust funds. Numerous other issues also are believed to meet the requirements of the more liberal trust fund law; these supplemental issues are designated by the superior figure four (⁴). The states in which an individual bond is legal are designated by means of numbers, as follows:

1—New York	5—Pennsylvania	9—Vermont
2—Massachusetts	6—California	10—Maine
3—Connecticut	7—Minnesota	11—New Hampshire
4—New Jersey	8—Michigan	12—Rhode Island

ISSUED BY—This column lists for each bond the issuing house, the price at which the bond was issued and the year of issue.

STATUS OF BONDS FOR BANK INVESTMENT

On June 27, 1938, the Comptroller of the Currency announced substantial revisions in the regulations governing the investments of commercial banks, to become effective as of July 1, 1938. At the same time announcement was made regarding a revision of bank examination procedure, as agreed to by the various governing authorities.

In this announcement, under the heading: "The Appraisal of Bonds in Bank Examinations," investment securities are defined as "obligations in which the investment characteristics are not distinctly or predominantly speculative. This group includes general market obligations in the four highest grades and unrated securities of equivalent value." Speculative securities are outlined as "those in which the investment characteristics are distinctly or predominantly speculative. This group includes general market obligations in grades below the four highest, and unrated securities of equivalent value."

It should be distinctly understood that the quality ratings of the "standard rating agencies," or any other single set of factors, are not conclusive as to the eligibility or non-eligibility of individual bonds. Final determination of eligibility naturally rests on the broad laws governing bank regulation, the opinion of the individual bank examiner and the supporting data furnished by the bank. There obviously is no set formula, therefore, by which the exact bank status of individual obligations can be determined.

On the basis of the statement of policy outlined by the authorities, and actual experience under bank regulation to date, however, it is possible to indicate those bonds which are most likely to be regarded, in general examination practice, as eligible for bank investment, which are most likely to be considered "speculative," and which probably will be placed in the third, or "default," classification. For the assistance of clients, we are indicating in the column headed "Bank Status and Average Price" our own interpretation as to which of the three bond classifications each corporate bond is most likely to be placed, in bank examination practice. This column appears on each left-hand page. The symbols used are as follows:

X These are the issues which, in accordance with the above interpretation, are most likely to be regarded as eligible for bank investment.

For all of these issues which are regarded as eligible for bank investment by the individual bank examiner, neither appreciation nor depreciation will be shown in the examination report, nor will they be taken into account in figuring net sound capital of the bank. Issues included in this grouping which are convertible or have stock warrants attached are designated by the symbol (▲X). Such bonds, if regarded as investment securities by the bank examiner, would be eligible for bank investment only if the price paid did not include any speculative value based upon the presence of the conversion or stock warrant feature.

Y These are the issues which are most likely to be regarded as "speculative."

All securities in this classification which are regarded as speculative by the bank examiner will be valued at the average market price for 18 months just preceding examination and 50% of the net depreciation will be deducted in computing the net sound capital.

A uniform price list of these 18-month averages has been computed. These price averages are presented for each bond carrying the symbol (Y); an explanation of the method used is given below.

Z These are the issues most likely to be placed in the "defaulted" classification, on which net depreciation will be classified as loss. Included are bonds where interest or principal has not been paid on the due date, regardless of grace period, issues where original indenture provisions as to interest are not being met, and income bonds where the stated coupon rate is not being paid or where cumulative arrears remain unpaid.

These interpretative symbols should not be confused with the opinion of the Standard Statistics Company as to the inherent investment quality of individual issues. As always, we will continue to provide clients with our own judgment of the intrinsic quality of each obligation by means of the quality rating shown in the column "Standard Rating."

Eighteen months' price averages are recomputed each month on all bonds carrying the Y designation. The price contained in the current publication will apply in examinations throughout the month of July, 1939.

This price average is calculated by the National Quotation Bureau, Inc., of New York, according to a formula established by the bank examining agencies of the Government. It consists of the mid-point between the highest quotation and the lowest quotation available in the Bureau's records during the preceding 18 months—with a one-month lag—for all listed securities. On unlisted securities the same time period is covered, but end-of-month quotations only are taken as a base for determining highest and lowest prices, from which the mid-point is figured. In both cases the mid-point is figured to the nearest one-half point. Where no actual sales have taken place, the bid price is the figure used.

In compiling these quotations, the Bureau was not required to go beyond its own records on unlisted securities. While every effort has been exerted to see that the figures are reported accurately, in accordance with the above formula, the Bureau cannot guarantee them. If any errors are found, please report them so that corrections can be made.

LEGAL STATUS

The laws of numerous states provide that Federal Land Bank bonds, both individual and consolidated issues, are legal for investment by savings banks and/or trust funds. The states where specific statutes are provided governing such investments are listed in the following tabulation:

Alabama	•Kansas	•Montana	•Rhode Island
Arkansas	Kentucky	†Nebraska	South Carolina
California	•Louisiana	New Hampshire	†Tennessee
Colorado	•Maine	New Jersey	Texas
†Florida	Maryland	New York	•Utah
Georgia	•Massachusetts	North Carolina	•Vermont
•Idaho	†Michigan	Ohio	Virginia
†Illinois	Minnesota	Oklahoma	Washington
•Indiana	•Mississippi	Oregon	†West Virginia
Iowa	Missouri	Pennsylvania	†Wisconsin
			•Wyoming

Where no symbol appears, the state laws provide legality both for savings banks and trust funds. •Legal for savings banks. †Legal for trust funds.

TAX STATUS—Bonds of Federal Land Banks are exempt from Federal, state, municipal and local taxation. Exemption from surtaxes on income from bonds is included, but transfer of bonds by inheritance, gift, etc., is subject to taxation under any applicable valid laws providing for taxation of transfers of personal property.

SECURITY—Consolidated Issues—Joint and several obligations of the 12 Federal Land Banks, both as to principal and interest. All bonds are secured by collateral consisting of at least an equal principal amount of U. S. Government obligations, and/or first mortgage loans on farm properties, made in amounts not exceeding 50% of value of mortgaged land and 20% of value of permanent insured improvements thereon, as ascertained by Land Bank appraisers.

CAPITAL STOCK—Government owns about 52% of outstanding capital stock.

REDEEMABLE—On and after the first call date, as listed above, on any interest date on 15 days' notice, at par and accrued interest.

PRICE RANGE—The price ranges, as given above, represent the range of bid prices for the periods specified, as available from our own files.

Statistical Section Combined with Standard Bond Guide

For the convenience of clients, the Statistical Section, heretofore published separately, has been incorporated in the Standard Bond Guide, and the two sections will be published monthly hereafter in the combined form.

Thus, there now is available in the one publication not only pertinent data for Government securities and the leading corporate and foreign bonds, but also up-to-date business, monetary and security statistics which are of general interest to the bond investor.

The Statistical Section, published on pages 374-383, includes data on the following: Bond and stock price indexes; new security financing; money rates; tics on gold and money in circulation, and inde industrial activity, steel production, building struction, freight carloadings and electric production. A broader coverage of the Feder serve statistics, both for the 12 Federal Reserve combined and for the member banks in 101 also is presented than heretofore.

The daily interest table and the table on c return (formerly published on pages 11 and respectively, of the Standard Bond Guide) hav transferred to pages 375-377 of the Statistical S

How to Use Standard Bond Guide

Standard Bond Guide has been designed to present the most pertinent facts regarding individual bonds in as concise a form as possible. We have selected for inclusion in this section all bonds outstanding in the hands of the public in the amount of more than $500,000 which are considered worthy of such listing.

The data on each issue are presented in one continuous line covering the two facing pages. For complete ease of following, a system of numbers is used; the key number for each bond is listed in the extreme left-hand column before the name of the issue, is repeated in the first column on the right-hand page and is again repeated in the final column.

The data have been assembled in several consecutive sections, to provide clients with the most logical sequence of facts. Thus, with the name of the bond has been grouped the market, lien position, maturity date, interest dates, quality rating and bank status. In this grouping also will be found the call price and current price, so that the investor has an intimate comparison of the market price in relation to the redemption feature. Immediately following, of course, is the current return and yield to maturity.

The next two columns, in combination (Cumulat Sales and Amount Outstanding), provide a go picture of the marketability of the bond in questi and with the amount outstanding is placed the pr lien and total debt columns, to give a complete pictu of the debt structure. A comprehensive tabulation the past price action of the bond completes the l hand page.

The first factual column on the right-hand page gi the industry or country in which the bond is a rep sentative obligation.

Following is a relatively complete financial reco this includes (1) average annual fixed charge cove for 10 years, or the most complete portion of that pe available; (2) actual fixed charge coverage for eac the last three years; (3) an ESTIMATE of fixed ch coverage for the current year; (4) actual interim e ings figures for the current year to date, together wi comparison of those for the like interval a year ear and (5) essential current data from the latest avai b balance sheet, together with the date of the report s

The tax and legal status of the bond follows, an factual description is concluded with a listing o issuing house, the price at which the bond was issued and the date of issuance.

Each spread of two pages is complete in itself, in that it includes an explanation of all symbols used on that page, with the exception of certain standard notations. The various columns, and the standard notations used, are explained in the following paragraphs.

SYSTEM—Numerous of the companies the bonds of which are included herein are part of a larger system. The system (if any) to which each issue belongs is listed in the footnotes on each odd-numbered page, preceded by the capped head "System," according to the number in the extreme left-hand column. As an example, you will find on the bottom of page 19, at the start of the footnotes, the notation:

SYSTEM: No. 17—Delaware & Hudson.

This notation indicates that bond number 17 (Adirondack Railway 1st 5s, 1942) is part of the Delaware & Hudson system.

MARKET—Market symbols are used to indicate a listing on any of the 21 most important exchanges. These symbols are:

New York S. E.	[7]Pittsburgh S. E.	[14]Cincinnati S. E.
Listed N. Y. Curb	[8]Montreal S. E.	[15]Washington S. E.
Traded N. Y. Curb	[9]Toronto S. E.	[16]Los Angeles S. E.
Boston S. E.	[10]Baltimore S. E.	[17]New Orleans Curb
Philadelphia S. E.	[11]New Orleans S. E.	[19]N. Y. Real Est. Ex.
Chicago S. E.	[12]Cleveland S. E.	[20]Mnpls.-St. P. S. E.
St. Louis S. E.	[13]San Fran. S. E.	[21]Montreal Curb

Unlisted bonds have no symbol preceding the name of the issue.

COMPANY AND ISSUE — In this column is included the name of the company or country, the mortgage position of the bond, the coupon rate and the year of maturity.

INTEREST DATES—Capital letters used to designate the months in which interest is paid are self-explanatory. The month carrying the numeral indicates the date of payment and also the date on which the issue matures. For example:

J1-D—Interest dates are June and December 1; maturity date is June 1.

J-D15—Interest dates are June and December 15; maturity date is December 15.

Where the maturity date differs from either of the interest dates, the maturity date is given in the title of the bond. For example:

Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Adj. Mtge. 4s, July 1, '95_____M1-N1

These bonds mature July 1, 1995, but interest is payable each May 1 and November 1.

Where interest is payable only once a year, only one interest date is given (such as July 1). Where interest is payable quarterly, the notation is "Q July 1," for example, indicating that payments are made every January 1, April 1, July 1, and October 1, and that the maturity date is July 1.

STANDARD RATINGS—These ratings give clients an up-to-date expression of opinion of the Standard Statistics Company as to the quality of each bond. The various ratings should be interpreted as follows:

A1+—Highest Grade	C —Uncertain
A1 —High Grade	D1+; D1; D—These D ratings represent bonds in default, graded according to their probable worth in reorganization.
A —Sound
B1+—Good
B1 —Fair
B —Semi-Speculative
C1+—Speculative
C1 —Highly Speculative

★This symbol preceding any of these ratings signifies that the rating in question is conditional, in that full and complete data are not available.

BANK STATUS & 18-MONTH PRICE AVERAGE—This column gives clients our interpretation of the bonds which are most likely to be regarded as "eligible," "speculative" and "defaulted" in general bank examination practice. The symbols used are explained on pages 10 and 11.

REDEEMABLE AT—The price at which the issue is redeemable at the nearest possible call date is shown in each instance; the first year of call also is given if the bond is non-callable until a future date. If no symbol appears with the price given, it should be interpreted that the bond is callable only on any interest date. Otherwise, a symbol will be given and the proj explanation will appear in the footnotes at the bott of the page. The Standard notations used, and th meanings are as follows:

N.C.	Non-Callable.
‡	Callable as a whole only.
*	Call price will be reduced from the stated figure on or fore January 1, 1941.
p	Callable at any time, without advance notice.
t	Callable at any time on 30 days' notice.
u	Callable at any time on 40 days' notice.
w	Callable at any time on 45 days' notice.
y	Callable at any time on 60 days' notice.

APPROXIMATE PRICE—On listed bonds, latest published quotation before closing is tak Where prices are a week or more old on the more ir tive listed bonds, we use the latest bid and asked pri

On unlisted bonds, we publish the latest available and asked prices, utilizing in each case the most re sentative quotations from as many as possible to sources.

On serial bonds, we publish no quotations, unless issue is in default. Instead, we follow the usual pra of quoting an average yield to maturity, computing figure on the basis of the average price of the va ries and the average maturity date. This figure is ublished in the yield to maturity column.

The symbol (f) before the price indicates that the ond is dealt in flat.

CURRENT RETURN—This column is obtained by mple division of the annual income return by the rrent price of the bond. In this column also is in- uded a notation as to the status of default on all sues on which there is past due interest and/or prin- pal.

YIELD TO MATURITY—Figures in this column ve straight yield to maturity. Where payments e being made on other than the originally stipulated upon basis (such as for income bonds or defaulted sues where some distribution is being made), or where e coupon has been placed on a graduated scale, this lumn is left blank and only the current return is mputed.

CUMULATIVE 1939 SALES—This figure can be mputed only for listed bonds. For these issues, it presents the latest available total of sales for the year date. This cumulative total provides an indication to the length of time it might take to accumulate or quidate a certain number of bonds without undue settlement to the market.

DEBT STRUCTURE—This section of three columns gives the par amount outstanding of the issue in question, the par amount of prior liens, and the par amount of total company funded debt, all expressed in millions of dollars. The amount outstanding and total debt columns are self-explanatory.

In considering prior liens, numerous instances arise where considerable question exists as to the seniority of individual obligations. The figures published in this column, therefore, must be considered strictly as the evaluation of this organization. Where there are no prior liens outstanding, in our judgment, the figure zero (0) is used. Where it is impossible to determine the amount of prior liens outstanding, either because of lack of full information or because of the complexity of the situation, a dash (—) is inserted in this column.

s This symbol used in the prior lien column designates the total of subsidiary funded debt and preferred stock outstanding in the case of a holding company bond.

PRICE RANGE—This section of four columns gives both a long term record of price action and a record for the current year to date. For unlisted bonds, the range is taken from our record of quoted bid prices.

INDUSTRY OR COUNTRY—For all domestic and Canadian corporate bonds, the industry in which the company operates is given. For foreign bonds, the country of origin is given. If the bond is a government or municipal issue, only the country is listed; if a foreign corporate issue, this fact is indicated by the word corporate (Corp.) after the name of the country.

CHARGES EARNED—These figures show the number of times the company was able to cover its fixed charges in the periods specified. Unless otherwise designated, fixed charges should be understood as including not only interest on funded debt, but also interest on bank loans and other forms of floating debt, amortization charges, discounts on securities sold, and any other similar charges applicable to a year's operations.

In the column showing the 10-year average of charges earned, it has been impossible in numerous instances to obtain a complete record of earnings for the entire 10 years. In these cases, we have taken the longest possible record, and designate the number of years included by superior figures (^{2} ^{3} ^{4} ^{5} ^{6} ^{7} ^{8} and ^{9}). Thus, the superior figure ^{8} before the fixed charge coverage in this column would indicate that the figure represented an average for a period of eight years.

In the three columns immediately following this 10-year average record are included the actual coverage ratios for the latest three reported years, and these actual figures are immediately followed by our up-to-date estimates of fixed charge coverage, wherever possible, of the full year 1939.

Latest interim earnings figures are given for all companies reporting such data, together with like results for the comparable period a year earlier. This information is listed in the following manner:

Interim Earnings
Mos.	Ended	1938	1939
9	Se.	1.65	1.60
12	Au.	2.30	2.10

The first of these two examples indicates that for the nine months ended in September (usually September 30) fixed charges were covered 1.60 times, as compared with 1.65 times in the like period of 1938. The second example is for the 12 months ended in August of 1938 and 1939, respectively.

To designate individual peculiarities in all of the reported earnings computations, the following standard symbols are used:

¶Fixed charge coverage before depreciation.

▲Interest charge coverage only.

§Percentage earned on outstanding bonds. This type of computation is used in place of the standard fixed charge coverage ratio both for income bonds and for certain miscellaneous situations where it demonstrates more clearly the actual earning position applicable to the bonds.

E—The capital E is used to indicate that it has been necessary to estimate the fixed charge coverage ratio for a recorded period, because of the lack of complete information.

Where an issue is assumed or guaranteed (either directly or through lease agreements), the name of the assuming, guarantor or lessee company is shown in the columns normally used for balance sheet information. The earnings of the assuming guarantor or lessee company are used in all of these cases, as the most significant earnings information; these data are given in the "Charges Earned" columns, with the following symbols:

A—Earnings of the Assuming Company.

G—Earnings of the Guarantor Company.

L—Earnings of the Lessee Company.

BALANCE SHEET INFORMATION—These items give a picture of the current financial position as of the latest reported date. In the "Cash and Equivalent" column is totaled all items of a cash nature. The current asset and current liability columns are computed on the generally accepted accounting principles.

TAX STATUS—The character of the Federal income tax clause in the indenture of each bond is explained by the following symbols:

0—No covenant. This indicates that the bond does not contain a tax-free covenant and holders of such bonds do not receive credit for a 2% Federal income tax paid to the Government.

02—No covenant. This indicates that the bond contains no tax-free covenant, but that the debtor corporation will refund to the bondholder, on proper application, 2% of the bond interest.

†02—This indicates a tax-free covenant of a security issued on or after January 1, 1934, under which the debtor corporation will refund to the bondholder 2% of the bond interest. Holders of such bonds who are citizens or residents of the United States do NOT receive credit for Federal income tax paid to the Government, but will receive refund of 2% of the bond interest on proper application.

2—Limited to not exceeding 2%. This indicates a tax-free covenant of a security issued before January 1, 1934. Holders of such bonds, other than domestic and resident foreign corporations receive the credit for a 2% Federal income tax paid to the Government.

†2—Limited to not exceeding 2%. This indicates a tax-free covenant of a security issued on or after January 1, 1934. Holders of such bonds who are citizens or residents of the United States do NOT receive credit for Federal income tax paid to Government, as debtor corporation is not required to withhold the tax on interest payments to such taxpayers. 2% is assumed, however, for non-resident aliens and non-resident foreign corporations.

4—Not limited to 2%. This indicates a tax-free covenant of a security issued before January 1, 1934, which provides that the debtor corporation will pay the Federal income tax which it is required to withhold or deduct up to 4% on the interest on the bonds. Holders of such bonds, other than domestic and resident foreign corporations, receive the credit for a 2% Federal income tax paid to the Government.

†4—Not limited to 2%. This indicates a tax-free covenant of a security issued on or after January 1, 1934, which provides that the debtor corporation will pay the Federal income tax which it is required to withhold or deduct up to 4% of the interest on the bonds. Holders of such bonds who are citizens or residents of the United States do NOT receive any credit for Federal income tax paid at the source to the Government, as the debtor corporation is not required to withhold the tax on interest payments to such taxpayers. 4% is assumed, however, for non-resident aliens and non-resident foreign corporations.

NL—Not limited to 2%. This indicates a tax-free covenant of a security issued before January 1, 1934, which provides that the debtor corporation will pay the Federal income tax up to any amount which it is required to withhold or deduct. Holders of such bonds, other than domestic and resident foreign corporations, receive the credit for a 2% Federal income tax paid to the Government.

†NL—Not limited to 2%. This indicates a covenant of a security issued on or after January 1, 1934, which provides that the debtor corporation will pay the Federal income tax up to any amount which it is required to withhold or deduct. Holders of such bonds who are citizens or residents of the United States do NOT receive any credit for Federal income tax paid at the source to the Government, as the debtor corporation is not required to withhold the tax on interest payments to such taxpayers. The full tax required to be withheld, however, is assumed for non-resident aliens and non-resident foreign corporations.

F—Foreign. This symbol indicates that the bond has been issued by a foreign country, a non-resident foreign corporation, or a domestic or resident foreign corporation deriving less than 20% of its gross income from sources within the United States. Holders of such bonds do not receive the credit for a 2% Federal income tax paid to the Government. Non-resident aliens and non-resident foreign corporations are exempt from Federal income tax.

F2—Foreign. This symbol indicates that the bond contains a tax-free covenant and that it was issued before January 1, 1934, by a foreign country, a non-resident foreign corporation, or a domestic or resident foreign corporation deriving less than 20% of its gross income from sources within the United States. Citizens or residents of the United States (other than corporations) who hold such bonds receive the credit for a 2% Federal income tax paid to the Government. Non-resident aliens and non-resident foreign corporations are exempt from Federal income tax.

†F2—Foreign. This symbol indicates that the bond contains a tax-free covenant and that it was issued on or after January 1, 1934, by a foreign country, a non-resident foreign corporation or a domestic or resident foreign corporation deriving less than 20% of its gross income from sources within the United States. Citizens or residents of the United States who hold such bonds do NOT receive any credit for Federal income tax paid at the source to the Government, as the debtor is not required to withhold the tax on interest payments to such taxpayers. Non-resident aliens and non-resident foreign corporations are exempt from Federal income tax.

E—Tax exempt.

LEGAL STATUS—This section indicates bonds which are believed to comply with the legal requirements of 12 important states governing investments for savings banks and trust accounts. Of these states, seven publish official lists, while for the remainder legality is based upon our own interpretation of the law. For all states but Pennsylvania, it is believed that any bond legal fo savings banks would be suitable for investment of trus funds. For Pennsylvania, we designate as legal onl those bonds which we believe to qualify under the mor conservative trust fund law. For New Jersey, all bond legal for savings banks also are legal for trust funds Numerous other issues also are believed to meet th requirements of the more liberal trust fund law; thes supplemental issues are designated by the superio figure four (4). The states in which an individual bon is legal are designated by means of numbers, as follows

1—New York	5—Pennsylvania	9—Vermont
2—Massachusetts	6—California	10—Maine
3—Connecticut	7—Minnesota	11—New Hampshire
4—New Jersey	8—Michigan	12—Rhode Island

ISSUED BY—This column lists for each bond th issuing house, the price at which the bond was issue and the year of issue.

STATUS OF BONDS FOR BANK INVESTMENT

On June 27, 1938, the Comptroller of the Currency announced substantial revisions in the regulations governing the investments of commercial banks, to become effective as of July 1, 1938. At the same time announcement was made regarding a revision of bank examination procedure, as agreed to by the various governing authorities.

In this announcement, under the heading: "The Appraisal of Bonds in Bank Examinations," investment securities are defined as "obligations in which the investment characteristics are not distinctly or predominantly speculative. This group includes general market obligations in the four highest grades and unrated securities of equivalent value." Speculative s curities are outlined as "those in which the investmer characteristics are distinctly or predominantly speculativ This group includes general market obligations in grades belo the four highest, and unrated securities of equivalent value."

It should be distinctly understood that the quality ratings the "standard rating agencies," or any other single set factors, are not conclusive as to the eligibility or non-eligibilit of individual bonds. Final determination of eligibility natu ally rests on the broad laws governing bank regulation, th opinion of the individual bank examiner and the supportir data furnished by the bank. There obviously is no set formula, therefore, by which the exact bank status of individual obligations can be determined.

On the basis of the statement of policy outlined by the authorities, and actual experience under bank regulation to date, however, it is possible to indicate those bonds which are most likely to be regarded, in general examination practice, as eligible for bank investment, which are most likely to be considered "speculative," and which probably will be placed in the third, or "default," classification. For the assistance of clients, we are indicating in the column headed "Bank Status and Average Price" our own interpretation as to which of the three bond classifications each corporate bond is most likely to be placed, in bank examination practice. This column appears on each left-hand page. The symbols used are as follows:

X These are the issues which, in accordance with the above interpretation, are most likely to be regarded as eligible for bank investment.

For all of these issues which are regarded as eligible for bank investment by the individual bank examiner, neither appreciation nor depreciation will be shown in the examination report, nor will they be taken into account in figuring net sound capital of the bank. Issues included in this grouping which are convertible or have stock warrants attached are designated by the symbol (▲X). Such bonds, if regarded as investment securities by the bank examiner, would be eligible for bank investment only if the price paid did not include any speculative value based upon the presence of the conversion or stock warrant feature.

Y These are the issues which are most likely to be regarded as "speculative."

All securities in this classification which are regarded as speculative by the bank examiner will be valued at the average market price for 18 months just preceding examination and 50% of the net depreciation will be deducted in computing the net sound capital.

A uniform price list of these 18-month averages has been computed. These price averages are presented for each bond carrying the symbol (Y); an explanation of the method used is given below.

Z These are the issues most likely to be placed in the "defaulted" classification, on which net depreciation will be classified as loss. Included are bonds where interest or principal has not been paid on the due date, regardless of grace period, issues where original indenture provisions as to interest are not being met, and income bonds where the stated coupon rate is not being paid or where cumulative arrears remain unpaid.

These interpretative symbols should not be confused with the opinion of the Standard Statistics Company as to the inherent investment quality of individual issues. As always, we will continue to provide clients with our own judgment of the intrinsic quality of each obligation by means of the quality rating shown in the column "Standard Rating."

Eighteen months' price averages are recomputed each month on all bonds carrying the Y designation. The price contained in the current publication will apply in examinations throughout the month of August, 1939.

This price average is calculated by the National Quotation Bureau, Inc., of New York, according to a formula established by the bank examining agencies of the Government. It consists of the mid-point between the highest quotation and the lowest quotation available in the Bureau's records during the preceding 18 months—with a one-month lag—for all listed securities. On unlisted securities the same time period is covered, but end-of-month quotations only are taken as a base for determining highest and lowest prices, from which the mid-point is figured. In both cases the mid-point is figured to the nearest one-half point. Where no actual sales have taken place, the bid price is the figure used.

In compiling these quotations, the Bureau was not required to go beyond its own records on unlisted securities. While every effort has been exerted to see that the figures are reported accurately, in accordance with the above formula, the Bureau cannot guarantee them. If any errors are found, please report them so that corrections can be made.

LEGAL STATUS

The laws of numerous states provide that Federal Land Bank bonds, both individual and consolidated issues, are legal for investment by savings banks and/or trust funds. The states where specific statutes are provided governing such investments are listed in the following tabulation:

Alabama	•Kansas	•Montana	•Rhode Island
Arkansas	Kentucky	†Nebraska	South Carolina
California	•Louisiana	New Hampshire	†Tennessee
Colorado	•Maine	New Jersey	Texas
†Florida	Maryland	New York	•Utah
Georgia	•Massachusetts	North Carolina	•Vermont
•Idaho	†Michigan	Ohio	Virginia
†Illinois	Minnesota	Oklahoma	Washington
•Indiana	•Mississippi	Oregon	†West Virginia
Iowa	Missouri	Pennsylvania	†Wisconsin
			•Wyoming

Where no symbol appears, the state laws provide legality both for savings banks and trust funds. •Legal for savings banks. †Legal for trust funds.

TAX STATUS—Bonds of Federal Land Banks are exempt from Federal, state, municipal and local taxation. Exemption from surtaxes on income from bonds is included, but transfer of bonds by inheritance, gift, etc., is subject to taxation under any applicable valid laws providing for taxation of transfers of personal property.

SECURITY—Consolidated Issues—Joint and several obligations of the 12 Federal Land Banks, both as to principal and interest. All bonds are secured by collateral consisting of at least an equal principal amount of U. S. Government obligations, and/or first mortgage loans on farm properties, made in amounts not exceeding 50% of value of mortgaged land and 20% of value of permanent insured improvements thereon, as ascertained by Land Bank appraisers.

CAPITAL STOCK—Government owns about 52% of outstanding capital stock.

REDEEMABLE—On and after the first call date, as listed above, on any interest date on 15 days' notice, at par and accrued interest.

PRICE RANGE—The price ranges, as given above, represent the range of bid prices for the periods specified, as available from our own files.
